The primary objectives of the National Voters' Day initiative were to raise awareness about the importance of voting and democratic participation, encourage informed and responsible citizenship, promote critical thinking and dialogue on electoral rights and duties, motivate first-time voters to enroll and participate in the electoral process, strengthen trust in democratic institutions, highlight the value of free and fair elections, foster respect for constitutional values, and build a sense of responsibility towards nation-building, ultimately striving to create an active, aware, and empowered electorate that contributes positively to a strong and inclusive democracy.

The integration of an awareness session on the electoral process along with interactive discussions proved to be an effective approach to engaging participants on the significance of voting. By sharing real-life examples, constitutional values, and the role of citizens in a democracy, the session successfully enhanced understanding and interest in electoral participation. It encouraged participants, especially young and first-time voters, to exercise their right to vote with integrity and responsibility, thereby strengthening democratic participation and civic commitment.

Mr. Nitin Mali, Assistant Professor, CSA, SOCSE, Sandip University, Nashik (MH), India.
